

Cylindrical Cutter

Cylindrical milling cutters are best suited for areas requiring high rate of stock removal. Their teeth are on the peripheral and produce flat surfaces. We are one of the leading Cylindrical cutter manufacturer in Ludhiana, Punjab, India. Being a rising and leading company in the market, we are engaged in offering Cylindrical Cutter in the market.

It is made using quality-tested raw material and sophisticated techniques as per set industry standards. The offered range of cutter is well acclaimed among our clients for its termite resistance, robust construction, perfect finish, dimensionally accurate and highly durable.

This type of Cylindrical Cutter is used in steel, automobile, and allied industries specifically for surface cutting as well as finishing in all types of materials. We are well known name in Cylindrical Cutter Manufacturers in India.

Cylindrical Cutter are profile sharpened cutters having teeth on peripheral surface only. Cylindrical Cutter produce relatively flat surface parallel to axis of rotation and are ideal for application that required high rate of stock removal.

Owing to our years of industry experiences, we are engaged in manufacturing and supplying a wide range of Cylindrical Cutter. Offered cutter is widely appreciated by our clients owing to its sharp edge and sturdy built features. This cutter is procured from our trustworthy sources at most reasonable price. Furthermore, to avoid any flaws, our experienced quality controllers test this cutter against different stages of quality parameters.

