

Aluminum

Aluminum is a silver-colored, low density metal that finds use in a huge variety of commercial applications. Whether it's commercial process for industries such as aerospace or transportation, aluminum has a number of uses for residential and industrial applications as well.

