

Oil Tank

Our company is involved in designing a wide range of storage tanks for water, oils and chemical lubricants. The exclusive product range of our company comprises Oil Storage Media system. Our Oil storage tanks are available in different capacities and shapes to meet the specific demands of the pipeline sectors. Oil storage tank is usually made of high grade metals or alloys.

Many storage media units are also made of galvanized iron and aluminium sheet to enhance its operational life. Some notable properties of our all water and oil storage tanks are large capacity, superior surface strength, attractive design and easy installation.