

Destoner

Used for separating stones from a continuous material stream. Reliable removal of high-density impurities such as stones. The D-STONER are used for separation of small stones and glass or metal particles from the grain mass in dry process based on different specific weights of the admixtures and grain. They are applied in flour mill cleaning sections.

