

Sin Bar

This instrument may be used to obtain the desired applied force between bandsaw and saw guide in initial installations or to determine the applied force in an existing installation. The device is a combination of three well known instruments, the precision level, the micrometer, and a 5 inch sine bar.