

Multi-spindle Machines

WIDMA's multi-spindle machines are built to perform multiple operations simultaneously and offer the best-in-class cycle time. Available in horizontal and vertical configurations, they can be provided with rotary or linear indexing. These machines can be used for operations such as drilling, tapping, rough boring, fine boring, reaming, and spot facing.

Typical Components

- Crankcase and crankcase cover
- Cylinder head
- Cylinder block