

Vibrating Screen

Description

Vibrating Screen one of the unique product or equipment manufactured by is used for separating the stuff. Vibrating Screen is compiled of mainframe, eccentric bock, screen web, rub spring, electric motor, coupler and some more. We have always kept in our minds the choice, preferences and the tastes of our all clients. We will offer you suitable type according to your requirements.

Advantages and Features

- Simple structure, easy maintenance, stale operation, high production yields
- Adopt punching sieve or steel sieve mesh in order to prevent blockage
- Sieve beam and screen box adopts high strength bolt connection, no welding processing
- Adopt perforated sieve plate to prolong mesh service life and prevent mesh blockage
- Rubber vibration spring to reduce noise pollution and provide smooth vibration operation
- Large dip angle structure enables high screening efficiency and handling capacity
- Hooked riveting with lock rivert, advanced structure; sturday and durable