

Dai Spring

Dai springs are heavy-duty metal compression springs made from round wire that are specifically made to be utilised as Dai Springs or as heavy-duty coil springs in any application involving high loads and stress. Round-cornered rectangular wire is used to make Dai springs. Applications involving heavy loads or harsh environments, including high temperatures, are well suited for die springs. Die springs are frequently employed in heavy machinery assembly or automotive applications

