

Globe Valve

A globe valve is used to control the flow in a pipeline, differing from a ball valve. It has good shut off and throttling capabilities and is easy to machine. Typical utilisation of an industrial globe valve is in the fuel oil system, cooling water systems, turbine seals and vents.

