

Drawer Magnet

A drawer magnet, also known as a magnetic drawer or magnetic drawer separator, is a type of magnetic separator used in various industries for the efficient removal of ferrous contaminants from dry, free-flowing materials. It is designed to be installed in chutes or gravity flow pipelines, where the material passes through the magnetic drawer, and the ferrous contaminants are captured on the magnetic tubes or cartridges inside the drawer.

