

About Us

At GBM, we manufacture; we represent; we service and support highly diverse product and technology lines. Yet, in all our activities there is a single, common thread. A singular philosophy.

The GBM philosophy is perhaps best illustrated by a close parallel that I find in GBM's very own manufacturing activity. We make Couplings. The Couplings constitute a vital link between the driver and driven machine, they are the very life-line of mechanical drive systems. Like Couplings, GBM too constitutes a vital link, between India's core sectors, and some of the world's best known sources of critical products and processes.

Whatever the sphere of our activity, in essence we are one vital link in the chain of technological advancement. We believe in mobilising resources and expertise to sustain and transmit, beyond its source, any momentum that is conducive to Indian industry. Indeed, a belief so finetuned with the basic principle of the Couplings that we make with distinction.